When will the tabulated results of the recent village survey be available?

This is a completely manual process. Tabulating the results is very labor intensive as many chose to add lengthy comments in areas where comments were not required. In order to maintain the context of the answers, these comments must also be captured. That said, about half of the returned forms have been entered. After that, the answers will be analyzed. The raw and analyzed data will be posted on the website when completed. We are aiming for mid-May as some surveys are still trickling in. Additionally, entering and analyzing the data is secondary to other duties such as fiscal year processing that must be completed.
